

Initial training for cervical sample takers

Tuesday 25 and Thursday 27 May 2021

Spaces still available - Book today

This popular two day training course follows the guidance given by Public Health England in relation to the training of cervical sample takers and incorporates the competency framework CHS37. It is also accredited by the RCGP.

This course aims to provide knowledge and skills to enable attendees to take cervical samples correctly and safely and to be able to answer any questions patients may have about the cervical sample process and outcomes.

Who is it for?

- Registered nurses.
 - Registered nursing associates.
 - Registered midwives.
 - Registered physician associates.
 - Medical doctors.
-

How does it work?

The course consists of:

- Two taught days. Attendance at both sessions is compulsory.
 - A practical element with a final requirement of achieving 20 adequate samples and sign off by an external assessor. (External assessor provided by Londonwide LMCs).
 - A colposcopy clinic visit with a documented reflection of the visit.
 - A visit to the laboratory or the completion of a virtual tour.
 - Completion of a personal clinical training record book.
-

How much does it cost?

£700 + VAT per student.

Requirements

A successful applicant must have in place, a mentor:

- Who has had 12 months continual experience following initial cervical sample training.
- Who has taken a minimum of 50 successful cervical samples.
- Who (if appropriate) has attended/completed a cervical training update within the last three years.
- Who is a practicing sample taker.

Course applicants must be working in an environment where the objectives of the course can be fulfilled within six months.

Book your place today

The course takes place via Zoom on Tuesday 25 and Thursday 27 May 2021.

Attendance at both sessions is compulsory.

Places are limited so for more information or to book a place on please contact: nursetraining@lmc.org.uk.
